When you a pair of bright eyes meet, When one voice stems to you more sweet Thun any other voice you know-Go slow, my friend, go slow For brightest eyes have oft betrayed, And sweetest voice of youth and maid

The very fairest things have said, And thereby wrought a deal of woe; Goslow, my friend, go slow When you're convinced you are a poet, And, wishing all the world to know it, Call on some editor to show it.

Your verses full of glow and blow, Go slow, my friend, go slow For many a one has done the same, And thought to grasp the hand of fame, And yet has never seen his name In print. And why-waste baskets know Go slow, my friend, go slow!

When you to greed for money yield, And long the mighty power to wield That's always found in golden field, With senseless pemp and pride and show, Go slow, my friend, go slow ! For thousands, tempted by the glare Of wealth, have fallen in the snare

Set for the thief. And now despair,

Regret and shame have brought them low: Goslow, my friend, go slow ! The good old earth is never wrong; Each of her works take just so long; Months pass before a happy throng Of daisies in the meadows grow; Go slow, my friend, go slow! And spring gives life to summer's flow'rs,

And summers's sun and summer's show'rs, Prepare the fruit for autumn's bow'rs, And autumn frost brings winter snow; Go slow, my friend, go slow
